Baltimore, MD – June 27, 2007 - Clipper City Brewing Company, the Maryland-based brewer of the Heavy Seas brand, announced today the seasonal release of “Hang Ten” Weizen Doppelbock. This unique brew is an unfiltered wheat beer that is being released in limited quantities and will be seasonably available while supplies last.

“Hang Ten” is a classic Bavarian style wheat beer - unfiltered and slightly cloudy, brewed with a high percentage of wheat malt, and using a special yeast yielding aromas of apple and spice. It is also a doppelbock in style – brewed to strength of 10% alcohol by volume – so it has a robust caramel, malty flavor, with a subtle sweetness on the finish.

“We’ve been thinking about making a beer like “Hang Ten” for several years, and this summer just seemed like the right time for this release,” said Hugh Sisson, Clipper City’s founder and managing partner. “There is a wave of heartier, more richly flavored beers emerging across America now, and that is really what our Heavy Seas brand is all about. Robust beers, showcasing some unusual styles, brewed to the highest possible standards, and with a killer “pyrate” graphic theme – we are having a lot of fun with this product line!”

Clipper City Brewing Company currently has eight beers in the Heavy Seas brand portfolio and may be adding more styles in 2008. With positioning statements of “extraARCHdinary beers!” and “Embrace your Inner Pyrate”, the brand is currently available in seventeen states and the District of Columbia in both 12 oz. bottles and draft.

Founded in 1995 by Baltimore brewing pioneer, Hugh Sisson, Clipper City Brewing Company is named after the famous Baltimore Clipper ship, a symbol that captures both Baltimore’s nautical past and the highest levels of craftsmanship.
